No Race/Ethnicity Reported	7	1

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Teachers Prepared by Subject Area

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by subject area for academic year 2022-23.

For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Subject area" refers to the subject area(s) an individual has been prepared to teach. An individual can be counted in more than one subject area. If no individuals were prepared in a particular subject area, please leave that cell blank. \(§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\)\)

What are CIP Codes?

No teachers prepared in academic year 2022-23

If your program has no teachers prepared, check the box above and leave the table below blank (or clear responses already entered).

What are CIP codes? The Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) provides a taxonomic scheme that supports the accurate tracking and reporting of fields of study and program completions activity. CIP was originally developed by the U.S. Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in 1980, with revisions occurring in 1985, 1990, and 2000 (<https://nces.ed.gov/ipeds/cipcode/Default.aspx?y=55>).

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2022-23. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. \(\$205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\)\)

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

Respond to the following assurances. Teacher preparation programs should be prepared to provide documentation and evidence, when requested, to support the following assurances. \(\$205\(a\)\(1\)\(A\)\(iii\); \$206\(b\)\)

Program Assurances

Note: This section is preloaded from the prior year’s IPRC.

1. Program preparation responds to the identified needs of the local educational agencies or States where the program completers are likely to teach, based on past hiring and recruitment trends.

☒ Yes

☐ No

2. Preparation is closely linked with the needs of schools and the instructional decisions new teachers face in the classroom.

☒ Yes

☐ No

3. Prospective special education teachers are prepared in core academic subjects and to instruct in core academic subjects.

☒ Yes

☐ No

☐ Program does not prepare special education teachers

4. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students with disabilities.

☒ Yes

☐ No

5. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to limited English proficient students.

☒ Yes

☐ No

6. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students from low-income families.

☒ Yes

☐ No

7. Prospective teachers are prepared to effectively teach in urban and rural schools, as applicable.

☒ Yes

☐ No

8. Describe your institution’s most successful strategies in meeting the assurances listed above:

The A-State Educator Preparation Program (EPP) has a Recruitment and Diversity Plan that is aligned to the needs of all of our educators. A-State houses an Educational Renewal Zone (ERZ) office and through this entity A-State is able to identify and incorporate the needs of the local educational agencies where completers teach. Through the use of partner schools, A-State is able to link with the needs of schools and the instructional decisions that new teachers face daily. To assure clinical experiences with diverse student populations, teacher candidates gain three field experiences. These experiences guarantee placements at sites that vary by size and diversity to include working with candidates from under-served populations. Additionally, the A-State EPP collaborates with superintendents, school counselors, and educational cooperative personnel to share valuable scholarships/grants/stipends for students majoring in teacher education and in critical areas of shortage in which our completers are likely to teach.

Annual Goals: Mathematics

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route teacher preparation program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students.

Report Progress on Last Year’s Goal (2022-23)

If no, leave remaining questions for 2022-23 blank (or clear responses already entered).

- ☒ Yes
- ☐ No

2. Describe your goal.

The program goals include: Goal 1: Increase enrollment by 5% each academic year for advanced special education candidates. Goal 2: Provide training resources for the students in the area of reading in order to successfully prepare students to pass the Foundations of Reading exam which is required for licensure. Goal 3: Provide training opportunities and embed within courses required components of the edTPA to better prepare students for the edTPA submission requirement in the internship.

3. Did your program meet the goal?

- ☒ Yes
- ☐ No

4. Description of strategies used to achieve goal, if applicable:

GOAL 1 was met. Enrollment in the SPED MAT K-12 program met the 5% growth in enrollment. We met with the recruiting team and the marketing team to analyze how we can reach more students that would be eligible for the program. We continue to address increasing enrollment for the program to meet the needs of the shortages of special education teachers across Arkansas and other states across the nation. GOAL 2 was met. The reading courses within the SPED MAT K-12 program were revised to include the components of the Science of Reading and to show stronger alignment to the components of the Foundations of Reading Exam. Also, edTPA Lesson Plans were revised to add a reading component to each lesson to help students understand how reading content must be embedded in all content areas. In the SPED MAT K-12 program, we have changed our reading courses so that all students will take the 2 reading courses in succession to prepare candidates to take the Foundations of Reading exam. Students will now take the FOR exam immediately after taking the 2 reading courses. We now have access to the 204 Tutoring for all of the SPED MAT K-12 students to assist them with studying materials for the FOR with the goal of passing of the Foundations of Reading Exam on the first attempt. GOAL 3 was met. The components of the edTPA were broken down by tasks. Modules have been developed by each Task to give students an in-depth study and application of the components of each task. Videos of each task have been embedded in the courses to also strengthen the student's understanding of the requirements and how to use the information to make their edTPA submissions stronger. Data from previous results from the edTPA have been analyzed and used to strengthen the content of the edTPA within our courses.

5. Description of steps to improve performance in meeting goal or lessons learned in meeting goal, if applicable:

GOAL 1. We continue to work with A-State Online and the Recruitment committee to get information out on the SPED MAT K-12 program. We have reached out to various groups (school administrators, paraprofessionals, and parent groups of students with disabilities) to share information about the SPED MAT K-12 program since we are seeing a growing number of paraprofessionals and parents of students with disabilities enroll in the program. We continue to work with other states for reciprocity agreements which also helps with increasing our numbers in the program. GOAL 2 .We have continued to meet as departments and also within the college to look at the reading content in all courses. As we analyzed how reading was being taught and the time-line of the reading courses in our program, we found that we needed it to be more focused and to follow the same time-line for all students as they prepare for the Foundations of Reading Exam. GOAL 3. As we looked at the exit evaluations from the students in the program regarding the edTPA, we used the feedback to guide us as we worked to provide more specific support for each component of the edTPA.

6. Provide any additional comments, exceptions and explanations below:

8. Describe your goal.

The program goals include: Goal 1: Increase enrollment by 5% each academic year for advanced special education candidates. Goal 2: The AOS Staff and the SPED MAT K-12 department will have designated faculty or staff reach out to any student who is not matriculating through the program at a consistent pace (not enrolled in any courses in one semester). SPED MAT K-12 faculty will contact the SPED MAT K-12 Coordinator if any student receives a grade of C or below so the coordinator and faculty can identify what extra supports a student may need to complete the program successfully. Goal 3: Provide PRAXIS 5354 and 5511 training resources for the students in order for them to successfully be prepared to take and pass the assessments in order to move forward for the Provisional License and Admission in to the Internship.

GOAL 1: Increase enrollment by 5% each academic year for advanced special education candidates. GOAL 2: Change the semesters of the academic year when the two reading courses are taught to Fall and Spring, so that our students will have access to working with a target student throughout both courses to help the content of the 2 courses stronger and more relevant to our students mastering the Science of Reading (SoR) in the SPED MAT K-12 program. GOAL 3: Develop a new course on Due Process in Special Education to ensure that our students have an understanding of the legal requirements of IDEA and 504 and how these laws guide instruction and the due process for all students with disabilities as they become special education teachers.

Annual Goals: Instruction of Limited English Proficient Students

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route teacher preparation program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students.

The pass rates table is populated from files provided by the testing company or state. The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period. \(§205\(a\)\(1\)\(B\)\)

Please note that this page does not have an edit feature as the pass rates have already been through several rounds of verification. If you identify an error, please contact RTI's Title II Support Center and your testing company representative.

Use of Technology

1. Provide the following information about the use of technology in your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request. \(\$205\(a\)\(1\)\(F\)\)

Does your program prepare teachers to:

a. integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction

☒ Yes

☐ No

b. use technology effectively to collect data to improve teaching and learning

☒ Yes

☐ No

c. use technology effectively to manage data to improve teaching and learning

☒ Yes

☐ No

d. use technology effectively to analyze data to improve teaching and learning

☒ Yes

☐ No

2. Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

A variety of technological applications are taught in the program for teacher candidates to integrate into the curriculum. Teacher candidates are encouraged early in the program to complete badged programs such as Google Certified Educator. Candidates learn a variety of technologies by focusing on the process of creating materials and infusing technology into those materials. Other examples of using technology to target best practices of teaching are: integrating the use of apps; incorporating the use of virtual reality; using interactive whiteboards such as Smartboards and Promethea. Teacher candidates design instruction using Google G-Suite and Microsoft Office. They get exposure to virtual simulations to complete clinical experiences. Candidates get exposure to gamification strategies, using electronic communication devices, iPads, and/or other mobile devices to aid in instruction. The teacher candidates learn how to use technology tools unconventionally as well as evaluating electronic materials in order to choose the best one for the situation. In their content and pedagogy classes, teacher candidates expand their uses of technology as well as engage in multiple options to maximize learning opportunities for all students. Throughout the program, teacher candidates use computerized assessment data to assist with improving teaching and learning, to develop Individualized Education Programs, and to develop lesson plans appropriate for all P-12 students using the edTPA lesson plan format. Furthermore, teacher candidates are given projects to collect data and report it using computer generated reports and then interpret and analyze data to assist with increasing student achievement. Focused on technology as a multi-faceted tool for learning through technology, candidates learn the advantages of having a positive instructional climate to incorporate all aspects of the Universal Design principles to improve learning. They learn ways to communicate, use flexible workspaces and design accessible digital texts. Candidates learn and teach ways to incorporate executive functioning through technology in their lessons and in the classroom. Lastly, teacher candidates use technology-based learning during supervised clinical experiences by creating digital portfolios on LiveText by Watermark and using GoReact to demonstrate performance-based assessment. Candidates also demonstrate their performance and knowledge of pedagogy through an edTPA assessment in order to be licensed.

Provide the following information about your teacher preparation program.

Teacher Training

1. Provide a description of the activities that prepare general education teachers to:

a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

Teacher candidates are required to take coursework that examines the characteristics of diverse learners; this includes students with exceptionalities. The focus is on application of evidence-based pedagogical methods for diverse learners to increase viability of inclusive classrooms, such as response to intervention (RTI), family involvement, scaffolding, and sheltered content instruction.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

Students know the legal background and current legal mandates for early intervention and special education, including IDEA (2004), purposes and construction of IEPs, as well as the roles of support services, consultation and collaboration from a family-centered perspective. Also, students use Individualized Educational Plans (IEP) to develop multiple lesson plans delineating application of evidence-based instructional strategies that support research on effective inclusive classroom instruction, including a parent involvement section depicting relevant types from Epstein’s parent involvement model. In order to achieve these goals, students critically analyze articles on RTI, create a webography for their individual classroom/schools based on Joyce Epstein’s parent involvement standards and participate in an IEP/Family Project. This project allows students a chance to observe a teacher working with children in an inclusive classroom, critique/evaluate the lesson and write up a reflection of what they have observed.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.

Addressed at multiple stages of the teacher preparation program, teacher candidates are provided foundational knowledge about English Language Learners through field experiences, course work and professional development workshops. This includes addressing guidelines on oral language development, supporting academic language, and an understanding of culturally inclusive practices. The teacher candidates gain an understanding of the diverse characteristics of students who have limited English backgrounds. The teacher candidates are asked to apply the theories and the research that support effective instruction for culturally and linguistically diverse students by reading case studies, writing a diverse learners essay and engaging in a multicultural practice project where candidates explore teachers’ understandings and implementation of multicultural practices through interview, observations, and reflection. By specifically assessing teacher knowledge and skills relevant to the unique learning needs of ELL students, our teacher candidates are better prepared to work effectively with students with diverse language and learning needs.

2. Does your program prepare special education teachers?

☒ Yes

☐ No

If yes, provide a description of the activities that prepare special education teachers to:

a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

Each course in the SPED MAT K-12 program contains content over all areas of disabilities and the effective strategies to meet the needs of students with disabilities. Students create lessons plans and teach lessons that are evaluated by the faculty of the program. Faculty give specific feedback to students and continue to monitor progress as they move through the program and the internship. The Special Education K-12 programs have worked with various school districts in the Delta region to provide teacher candidates with the specialized skills to teach individuals with exceptional needs in special education. Teacher candidates must master knowledge and skills outlined by the Council for Exceptional Children, which is the special education's specialty program area (SPA). Teacher candidates must also complete multiple hours of training in the field, working directly with students with exceptional needs in grades K-12. During field activities, teacher candidates receive instruction and practice in working with a diverse group of students, including those with limited English proficiency through coursework and practicum field-based activities. The field experiences will encompass problem-based learning experiences (e.g., case studies, behavior change plans, lesson plans, and assessment projects) for special education teacher candidates. Performance-based assessments are also utilized throughout the program to ensure that teacher candidates have the knowledge and skills necessary to effectively meet the needs of students.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

Special education teacher candidates are provided several opportunities to work with the development and implementation of the IEP that is in compliance with the Individuals with Disabilities Act (IDEA). Candidates take into consideration a student with exceptional learning needs, the learning environment, and cultural and linguistic factors. Candidates are also required to integrate assessment techniques as well as best practice in collaborating with school personnel and families of children with exceptionalities. Additionally, SPED MAT teacher candidates who serve as the teacher of record must be a member of the IEP team.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.

Throughout the SPED MAT K-12 program, candidates are taught strategies for working with students with limited English proficient and other communication disorders. Candidates are trained to work with students from culturally diverse backgrounds and their families. Although their is not specific course work directly related to students with limited English proficiencies (LEP), students are provided with experiences in the field during the practicum and the internship. Candidates are taught how to collaborate with school ESL teachers in the school district to provide strong support for students with limited English.

Please use this space to provide any additional information that describes your teacher preparation program(s). You may also attach information to this report card (see below). The U.S. Department of Education is especially interested in any evaluation plans or interim or final reports that may be available.

It is noted that 76 is recorded for total number of 2022-2023 Alternative program completers. The ETS indicates 73. Three of the Alternative program completers are wrongly claimed as Traditional program completers. Additionally, the summary pass rate indicates 72 as the number of program completers taking tests for 2022-2023. One student could not be found in the ETS Praxis II database and 3 students were Alternative program completers wrongly claimed as Traditional program completers.
