Chapter 7 - Medical Surveillance

According to the BMBL, “Laboratory personnel must be provided medical surveillance, as appropriate, and offered immunization for agents handled or potential present in the laboratory.” Medical surveillance and vaccinations should be considered when infectious agents are present in the lab at the recommendation of the IBC. Work with human cells requires offer of vaccination to lab workers. For more details, consult the Arkansas State University Exposure Control Plan.

Revision #1
Created 2025-10-23 18:31:04 UTC by Melissa Dooley Updated 2025-10-23 18:31:44 UTC by Melissa Dooley