Fines/Lost Items

There are no late fines for General Collection books. However, a hold will be placed on all accounts with late materials, which may cause a borrower to be blocked from checking out items, registering for classes, or getting transcripts. After items are 90 days past due, there will be a replacement cost including a $10 processing fee assessed for each item that is not returned. If late items are returned between 90 and 180 days past due, any holds and replacement costs will be removed from the borrower's account. Refunds are not available for items returned more than 180 days past the due date. If you return items late, please make sure to let the Service Desk know so we can verify that holds and charges are removed as this is not an automated process.

In order to graduate or withdraw from the University, students must return all materials borrowed from the Library and must pay any accumulated Library fees. Your circulation records at the A-State Library are confidential.
