

Portals of the Soul: Native American Culture Traveling Suitcase Exhibit

While this Traveling Suitcase Exhibit mirrors the teachings of our museum exhibit of the same name, it goes further by offering prehistoric-themed science, technology, engineering, art, and math (STEAM) and writing activities as well as touchable artifacts.

Students may play games having to do with portals symbols, the Native American chunky stone, and atlatl math. Students may also participate in a tools-of-the-trade activity by creating their own tools using recyclable materials. They can also create pottery designs, learn about animals and mythical creatures who live in each of the "three worlds," and much more.

Each kit comes with lesson plans and a full list of the Arkansas Standards that guide teachers and meet state requirements.
